Lansing Parents Offer Teener Son In Exchange

EAST LANSING (AP) — The parents of a teen-ager who thinks his home town here is a drag have put him on the trading block.

Mr. and Mrs. Jules D. Williams think it would be good for their son to live for a year with another family somewhere else. In return, they want to keep someone else's teen-ager for a year.

Williams, an agricultural research scientist at Michigan State University, advertised in Humanist Magazine:

"Teen-ager to trade. Have 14-year-old boy who wants to try different environment. Would like to trade for teen-ager boy or girl for one year. References exchanged."

try a trade with another family. We feel it would give both children involved a chance to grow without so much parental pressure.

"We know that, as adults, we wouldn't put the same kind of pressure on other kids as we do on our own. We would recognize him as a person, which we seldom do for our own children," Williams explained.

Williams said the six-foot Brian "is direct and honest where our society is not, and this creates friction."

"As he grows older, he sees where society is at fault and finds that direct action is not always the best," he said.

Mrs. Williams said she, too, was in favor of the trade. But, she said, the family "would miss him. There's no question about that."

There has been no response as yet to the ad. But since it was placed, the family has decided to move to Yellow Springs, Ohio, home of Antioch College.

"That could be a big improvement," said Brian.

Cavanagh Asking Probe Of Govt. Conduct In Riots

DETROIT (AP) — Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh Wednesday requested a "penetrating and thoughtful" investigation of the conduct of the city, state and federal governments in last week's riot in Detroit.

The mayor said the study should be conducted by a "small but distinguished panel from outside government."

Cavanagh told the council that the city needs $93 million in federal funds for "the recovery of a grievously wounded city." The figure includes $36 million for public housing and $28 to enlarge the war on poverty.

The mayor also told councilmen the city may lose $4 million in revenue from income, property, sales and gasoline taxes because of the riot. He told of plans to borrow up to $12 million through three-year "emergency bonds."

Cavanagh said he would be "very happy" to present such a report.

U.S. Troops Leave

With the city restored to calm, the last of 4,700 federal troops sent to Detroit to quell the riot July 26 were sent home Wednesday.

Three battalions of the 82nd Airborne Division and various headquarters and support units left Selfridge Air Force Base for their home bases.

"Law and order have been restored to Detroit," said Cyrus Vance, President Johnson's personal representative in the city and director of the federal force here. Vance said he and Lt. Gen. John L. Throckmorton, military commander of Task Force Detroit, would leave the city following the departure of the last troops.

The 8,000 Michigan National Guardsmen in Detroit were returned to state control. The guard had been federalized when the troops arrived.

Patrols Reduced

Major Gen. Cecil L. Simmons, commander of the 4th Infantry National Guard Division, said Gov. George Romney would announce a decision on withdrawing Teachers salaries in Traverse City currently start at $5,200 reaching a maximum of $7,700.

However, school board president Julius Beers said the recommendations were based "largely upon a comparison with districts in the industrial portions of the state which enjoy much greater community wealth than Traverse City."

Beers said the school board "could not and would not" meet the recommendations.

Auto Workers Won't Strike On Profit Sharing

DETROIT (AP) — A top United Auto Workers bargainer says the union will not strike to get profit sharing from the nation's automakers this year.

Douglas A. Fraser, director of the union's Chrysler Department, said Wednesday the union had found rock-hard resistance to the idea from management and would wait until later to press its demands.

Profit sharing, or "equity sharing" as UAW President Walter P. Reuther called it, was a surprise demand when the union opened new contract negotiations July 10.

Reuther told Ford, Chrysler and General Motors that bargaining without including profit sharing was "primitive nonsense."

He said it was impossible to predict in 1967 what a worker's fair share of a company's earnings would be over a new three-year contract.

Not This Year

Fraser told a newsman Wednesday, however: "If profit sharing were the only issue, it would not be a strikeable issue."

Pressed for explanation he said the newsmen could "reasonably draw the conclusion" there would be no strike over profit sharing this year.

But, he added, "it's a seed we've sown. We'll be back another year."

In recent days, there has been speculation whether Detroit's rioting would make a strike less likely in the auto industry when current three-year pacts run out Sept. 6.

The rioting last week left an estimated $500 million in property and related damage.

A Fire Department report shows 387 buildings were destroyed. In addition, many stores were looted bare, some factories were shut down and operations were disrupted at others because of a curfew, and new car sales virtually dried up.

Thousands of auto workers lost several days pay because of the shutdowns. Service industries were hard hit as workers remained home at official urging.

Several sources in the auto industry have said the rioting and its damage could affect Reuther's drive to win what he says is "the longest and most ambitious" set of demands ever made by his union. They include a "substantial" wage hike, a guaranteed income and boosts in fringe benefits and working conditions.

However, spokesmen within the industry shy away from discussing for publication whether the riots may affect bargaining. They don't want to appear to be taking advantage of an unfortunate situation.

The Detroit News quoted a "veteran bargainer" Wednesday as saying, "There is no question that it will be more difficult for Reuther now to call a strike."

Labor experts point out that while Detroit and Michigan are the home of the Big Three automakers, only 250,000 of the industry's 750,000 employees are in metropolitan Detroit. The others are spread from New York to California.

Reuther Has New Lever

A scaling down of demands for guaranteed annual income and other benefits could get Reuther into political difficulty within his union.

Union sources have pointed out that the rioting might have supplied Reuther with a new argument: that meeting his demands for such things as higher wages, earlier retirement and increased pensions would eliminate some of the causes of unrest such as unemployment.

Reuther already has volunteered the services of unionists to clean up the debris-littered areas in off-duty hours if industry will provide tools.

When contract bargaining opened last month, speculation was that Reuther was determined to win his fastest package ever, even if it meant striking one of the Big Three.

Today's Chuckle

Orbiter On Moon Course

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A delicate turnaround in space—combined with a precise, firm kick in the tail—put America's Lunar Orbiter 5 spacecraft into "mighty good shape" today for its photo mission of the moon.

The midcourse maneuver was perfect, as far as we can tell at this point, a spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said.

Scientists controlling the craft's flight said it had less than 133,000 miles to go before it is dropped into orbit around the moon, where the camera package is to go into operation.

The spacecraft was programmed to roll and pitch to orient it properly for the maneuver, which it did, the spokesman said.

"A 26-second burn of its steering rocket decreased its speed by 87 miles an hour. It was then rolled back into cruising position."

The kick in the tail was provided by the 100-pound thrust rocket mounted on the small end of the stubby craft, he said.

The craft, when it reaches the vicinity of the moon Saturday morning, is to be dropped into orbit around the moon—utilizing the same steering rocket.

Its prime goal is to scout several proposed landing spots for American astronauts, then make photographic maps of 99 per cent of the moon's hidden side. Scientists hoped the new pictures would help solve the ancient riddle of whether the lunar crust was formed by meteor impacts, volcanic action—or both.

Humphrey At Detroit

Marshall Plan For Riot Cities Urged

DETROIT (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey says "the rule of the jungle will prevail" in the United States and he calls for a "Marshall Plan" for America's impoverished areas as one means of preventing racial violence.

The vice president also proposed establishment of councils for civil peace to deal with riots. He spoke Wednesday night before a national convention of county officials in Detroit, where riots claimed 41 lives and left an estimated $500 million damage last week.

He went into no details on his Marshall Plan proposal. The original Marshall Plan, proposed by then-Secretary of State George C. Marshall, committed the United States to spend billions to help rebuild European countries after World War II.

Law And Order First

"Our nation is in trouble," Humphrey said. "The first thing is to re-establish law and order in this country by whatever legal means it takes to do it."

This brought applause.

He proposed councils for civil peace at state and, where possible, metropolitan levels. He said they could include representation from all racial and religious groups, state government, the National Guard and law-enforcement agencies.

They could provide, he said, a community relations service "designed to prevent violence and to gain community cooperation and to hear the voices of those who have gone unheard."

He added they could set up an early-warning system "so that coming disorders might be detected in advance and, perhaps, be stopped before they begin."

Federal Fund Aid

Humphrey said federal funds could help establish the councils.

Before addressing the county officials, Humphrey spent an hour and a half conferring at a downtown hotel with Republican Gov. George Romney and Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh. He said they "discussed critical problems," but did not otherwise comment on the meeting.

Romney on Monday accused President Johnson of having "played politics in a period of tragedy and riot" in what the governor said was delayed commitment of federal troops to Detroit riot duty. Administration spokesmen have denied there was delay in answering Romney's plea or that politics were involved.

Romney is an unannounced candidate for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination.

Humphrey and Cavanagh met for two additional hours after the vice president finished his speech. Although elected on a nonpartisan ballot, Cavanagh is a Democrat, as are Humphrey and Johnson.

Iowan Named To Legislative Post

LANSING (AP) — Allen Reynolds, director of Iowa's Legislative Research Bureau, has been named director of Michigan's Legislative Service Bureau, Senate Majority Leader Emil Lockwood, R-St. Louis, said Wednesday.

Weight, Gas Tax Hike Lost In Adjournment

Lockwood, chairman of the Legislative Council, said the council has named Reynolds to the position effective Sept. 5.

Reynolds succeeds Donald Hoenschell, who resigned earlier in the legislative session, charging that certain GOP senators were attempting to make the bureau a "branch of the Republican Party."

The gasoline and automobile tax increases, already approved by the Senate, passed the House Wednesday and were returned to the Senate for concurrence in House amendments.

Fail To Agree

However, the Senate failed to agree on the amendments prior to adjournment, killing the bills for this session.

The House and Senate return Oct. 10 for a special fall session called by Romney to take up court reorganization and increased appropriations for the state Civil Rights Commission.

Disagreement between the two houses over Mackinac Bridge financing, the effective date of the weight tax and other issues delayed final legislative approval of the so-called "good roads package."

Also at issue was a House amendment putting a minimum $15 charge on annual passenger car registration, which would in many cases abolish the present system of taxing autos according to their weight.

The package was the last major issue facing the regular session of the 1967 Legislature. Lawmakers hoped to adjourn at noon today.

Cost For Gallon

The House, which defeated the key weight tax measure last month, reversed itself Wednesday and approved its version of a four-bill package which would: —Add one cent to the per-gallon tax on gasoline, boosting the levy from six to seven cents; —Increase the weight tax on motor vehicles, including raising the fee for passenger cars from 35 to 55 cents per 100 pounds and imposing the $15 minimum fee.

—Increase the share of restricted highway fund money which is annually distributed to cities from 18 per cent to 20 per cent.

Because the Senate early today rejected several House amendments to the package, it was sent to conference committee.

Under the House version, the gasoline tax increase would be effective Sept. 1 and the weight tax would be boosted Nov. 1, 1968, when 1969 plates go on sale.

Senate Balks At Bridge

The Senate, however, refused to approve setting the weight tax increase ahead to next year.

It also rejected a House amendment which would have appropriated $6 million to be used to pay off part of the outstanding Mackinac Bridge bonds and to reduce the passenger car toll from $3.75 to $1.

In April, the Senate rejected a plan to boost gasoline taxes another quarter of a cent to refinance the bridge.

Under the weight tax increase, the annual charge for license plates for a 3,000-pound auto would climb from $10.05 to $10.75.

Corporate Levy Back To July 1, Personal Oct. 1

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proposed today a 10 per cent surtax on individual and corporate income taxes because of the high cost of the war in Vietnam, and said he is authorizing an increase of 45,000 troops for Vietnam.

The additional troops would raise the commitment in Vietnam to 506,000 men.

Johnson said the extra taxes which would produce $6.3 billion extra revenue in fiscal 1968, should become effective on corporations retroactive to July 1 and on individual incomes next Oct. 1.

Johnson said the proposed tax increases would expire June 30, 1969, or continue for so long as the unusual expenditures associated with our efforts in Vietnam require higher revenues.

He said the presently scheduled reduction in the 10 per cent excise tax on telephone service to one per cent on April 1, 1968, should be postponed to July 1, 1968. The elimination date of the telephone tax, now scheduled Jan. 1, 1969, should be postponed until Jan. 1, 1970, he advised.

Gives Example

Johnson said the surcharge on individual incomes would mean that "a family of four with income of $10,000, now ordinarily paying a tax of $1,100, will pay at most an added tax of $9.25 a month."

He said the three out of four American families with less than $10,000 annual income will pay a lesser increase.

"Extending these excise taxes would provide additional revenues of $300 million for fiscal 1968 and more than $2 billion for fiscal 1969," Johnson said.

Johnson said the proposed 10

Buildup Ordered

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson ordered today an accelerated buildup of U. S. forces in Vietnam.

The President, in a budget and tax message to Congress, said American troop strength in Vietnam will be increased by 45,000 men, raising the total by the end of the current fiscal year next June 30 to 525,000. In a briefing outside the message itself he made the increase figure 45,000 to 50,000.

per cent surcharges on corporation and individual incomes would yield $6.3 billion in revenues for fiscal 1968 and some more in 1969.

16 Million Exempt

"The 16 million taxpayers in the lowest income brackets would be completely exempt from the surcharge," Johnson said. "For example, a married couple with two children, with an income of less than $5,000 a year, would pay no surcharge."

"The nation now faces these hard and inescapable facts for 1968," Johnson said and gave this listing:

—Expenditures are likely to be between January budget figures of $135 billion and $143.5 billion—as much as $8.5 billion higher—depending upon the determination and ability of the Congress and the executive to control expenditures.

—Revenues are now estimated from $7 billion lower than in January, even with a six per cent tax surcharge.

Deficit Looms

"These changes in the January budget estimates would result in a deficit of $23.6 billion."

—"Without a tax increase and tight expenditure control, the deficit could exceed $28 billion. And that does not include an estimated $700 million higher cost of interest on the public debt that such a deficit would involve."

"A deficit of that size poses a clear and present danger to America's security and economic health."

Johnson also recommended "continuation of excise taxes for the immediate future."

Postpone Excise Drop

The seven per cent manufacturers excise tax on autos is now scheduled to drop to two per cent April 1, 1968, and one per cent Jan. 1, 1969.

"The drop to two per cent should be postponed to July 1, 1969, and the drop to one per cent should be postponed to Jan. 1, 1970," Johnson's message said.

Jack Pine Budworm Active

By SPAR SAGER
Timber Management Technician

An aerial survey was made on July 25 to detect the extent of forest insect and disease activity on the Hiawatha National Forest. Observations were made and charted by a team composed of entomologists from the St. Paul Insect and Zone Station and a member of the Hiawatha timber management staff.

Of particular interest was the degree of spread of Jack Pine Budworm. This insect has a history of periodic invasion in the Jack pine types in Upper Michigan during the past three decades. The last critical build-up on the Hiawatha requiring control operations occurred in 1962; an aerial spray project was then put into action, and the pest was reduced to insignificant population.

Conditions favoring another population buildup have been permitting Jack Pine Budworm to make a comeback during the past three years. Heavy tree mortality has not yet been observed, but several areas on two of the five ranger districts are approaching the critical state. Expansion on the Sault Ste. Marie District now includes nearly all of the Jack pine type in the District with some spread to the South into the St. Ignace District. Over most of this extensive range, the degree of defoliation appears rather light.

Delta County is also hit. Moderate to heavy defoliation was seen on an extensive area in the northeast corner of the county. An isolated area of lighter feeding was observed on state land in the Garden Peninsula.

Evaluation of Jack Pine Budworm will be made by ground checking over a pattern established from the aerial survey. Observations made by field crews indicate that the budworm is attacking red pine, white pine, and Scotch pine, in addition to its primary host species. Areas of young reproduction and plantations recently ly established are being attacked by the insect. Studies to be incorporated in the over-all evaluation will include such deviation from normal habits by the insect.

A firm policy by the Forest Service bans the use of pesticides except when genuinely necessary. History of past outbreaks, damage potential from the present budworm population, consideration of natural enemies and environmental influences will all be meshed in this outbreak can be predicted within acceptable damage levels, no spray project would be undertaken.

Many reports have been received by the Forest Service from interested persons living in or traveling on the forest about insect activity. Another insect observed over most of the Stonington Peninsula is feeding on balsam fir. Some unconfirmed reports indicate a start of feeding a year ago. The insect is identified as Balsam Fir Sawfly and is lightly scattered over most of the fir stands in this part of the forest. Two or three small stands of heavy top defoliation were observed during the aerial detection survey. The outbreak and potential by this insect, like the Jack Pine Budworm, will be studied before any control measures can be advocated.

Man Convicted In Baby's Death

MARQUETTE — Richard Beauchamp, 38, of Harvey, was found guilty Wednesday of involuntary man-slaughter in the death of his infant son March 17.

Circuit Court Judge Bernard H. Davidson ordered a presentence investigation and sentencing for Aug. 11. Beauchamp could be sentenced to 15 years in prison.

The boy, James R., 2½ months, was found dead in his bassinet by State Police who had been summoned by neighbors at the request of the mother, Janet, 22.

Dr. Leonard Carefoot, county medical examiner who performed an autopsy on the baby, testified that death was the result of a massive hemorrhage between the skull and the scalp. He said that a beating could have caused the injury. Beauchamp testified that he had swallowed 24 tranquilizer pills the day of the infant's death. Normal dosage was four pills, he and his wife said.

He had pleaded innocent by reason of temporary insanity. Last October, probate court had sent him to Newberry state hospital for a 60 day examination.

A jury of eight men and four women heard the case.

Power Companies Pledge $9,750 To Scout Camp

Two power companies have presented gift investments totaling $9,750 to the Camp Development Campaign, Hiawathaland Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co., pledged $6,000 and Edison Sault Electric Co., presented their gift of $3,750 to the Campaign general chairman, James S. Hoholik of Manistiquette.

Campaign officials have worked out a plan whereby utility companies in the Upper Peninsula are asked to contribute an amount to the Camp fund, commensurate with their business in the Upper Peninsula. The utility gifts will then be applied towards the cost of providing a major portion of the utilities at the new camping facility. According to Hoholik, the plan has been well received by utility companies.

The new Scout Camp is located in Alcona County, AuTrain Township which is central to all areas of the Upper Peninsula.

Probe Slaying Of 3 Detroit Youths

DETROIT (AP) — The Wayne County prosecutor's office was studying a Detroit police homicide report today on the shotgun slaying of three Negro youths in a motel during last week's racial violence.

The investigation was started shortly after the three bodies were discovered early July 26 in an annex to the Algiers Motel on Woodward Avenue, the scene of gun battles between snipers and police and National Guardsmen.

Killed were Carl Cooper, 17; Aubrey Pollard, 19, and Fred Temple, 18.

More than a score of witnesses were questioned about how the youths died. Some reportedly told of a National Guard officer taking two of the youths into a room, one at a time. Shots were heard, and the officer was said to have returned and announced that he had killed them.

Details of the bizarre case were revealed publicly after the Detroit News and the Detroit Free Press conducted their own investigation.

Disability Aid Inquiries Are Urged By Govt.

About one of every five applicants for social security disability benefits delays so long before making his application that he risks possible loss of some payments, says Arnold T. Williams, district manager of social security in Escanaba.

In an effort to remedy this situation, the Social Security Administration is asking anyone who might possibly qualify for disability benefits to get in touch with a social security office as soon as possible.

"Some people fail to apply because they don't realize that they can benefit from the program," Williams said. "Younger people often think that social security payments are only for people in their sixties, whereas the disability program was specifically set up to protect the wage earner who is forced to stop working before he is old enough to collect retirement benefits."

"Others don't file because they are under the impression that they have to be permanently disabled. This was generally true before a 1965 change in the law, but now payments can go to a person whose disability has lasted, or is expected to last, for 12 months or longer," Williams said.

Find No Trace Of Long-Lost Sailing Ship Griffin

Scientists Dig At Village Site

BY CLINT DUNATHAN

On a small island in Delta County at the top of Lake Michigan, scientists are digging for "archaeological keys" — like being turned in an effort to unlock one of the Great Lakes' greatest mysteries.

The island is Summer Island, scene of archaeological exploration, and the mystery is the first sailing vessel on the Great Lakes, which disappeared with all hands after sailing "from the island of the Potawatomi" on Sept. 18, 1679.

Historians generally have said the "Island of the Potawatomi" from which the Griffin sailed with a cargo of furs 238 years ago was Washington Island, Wis.

But George I. Quimby, formerly curator of Archaeology and Ethnology, Chicago Natural History Museum, and now of the University of Washington, declares that it is Summer Island in Delta County off the southern tip of the Garden Peninsula.

"It is my first choice," Quimby says of Summer Island. It was here, he believes, the Griffin (which was built by Sieve de la Salle on Lake Erie and was approximately 40 feet long) loaded furs assembled there by the Indians and set sail for the return down the Lakes. No trace of the vessel has yet been found.

"And we have found nothing to indicate that the Griffin was ever here," said Dr. James Fitting, curator of the University of Michigan Museum of Anthropology, who is directing the "digging" at Summer Island. "Nor have we found anything to show that she was not," he added. The present exploration on a rise of ground above the small sand bay on Summer Island's otherwise rocky shore is being done by graduate students in archaeology and boys from the Summer Science camp on the island. The graduate students have been there for several weeks and the young helpers from the Summer Science school arrived on Saturday for two weeks.

The island was a center of interest for members of the Michigan Archaeological Society on Wednesday, when they visited there on a tour of archaeological projects in the Upper Peninsula. Dr. Donald R. Hagge of Northville is president of the Society.

Students Assist
Other visitors included persons who were interested in the newest idea in education — Summer Science on Summer Island. This is the first season for the school which is the brainchild of E. Dan Stevens

WAS THIS THE BAY from which the Griffin sailed in 1679? Archeologists exploring a prehistoric Indian village site at Big Summer Island in Delta County have found no evidence to indicate the Griffin loaded furs here before sailing to return to Lake Erie. The Griffin apparently was caught in a storm on Lake Michigan and disappeared with all hands. (Daily Press Photos by B. F. Schultz)

Strikes Bring Uruguay Crisis

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — Tiny Uruguay sank deeper into crisis today as strikes for more pay increased, electric power cuts chilled homes, and business houses, and food shortages showed no sign of easing.

At least 200,000 government workers were on full or partial strike to press demands for a 40 per cent pay boost to offset a similar rise in the cost of living. President Oscar Gestido's government, already deep in the red, claims it cannot meet the wage demands. Union leaders claim the government plans to freeze wages.

Gestido moved toward a showdown with the 400,000-member leftist National Workers Convention, the CNT, which engineered the strikes as part of a war of nerves against the government.

High school teachers walked out today. Partial stoppages by state telephone employees disrupted long distance service.

The railways, the state oil, alcohol and cement monopoly and other state-owned enterprises also were hit by stoppages, slowdowns and "working to rules."

With winter's freezing weather gripping the capital, power cuts of three to four hours daily worked a particular hardship in a city largely dependent on electricity for heating and cooking.

The food supply has been cut by severe summer drought, fall floods and heavy frost which badly damaged crops. Supermarkets are rationing milk, one bottle per buyer, and housewives have to stand in line for two hours to get it.

There is talk that the nation of 2.5 million people, which normally exports grain, may have to import wheat this year.

Last Ore From Gogebic Shipped Out This Week

Tuesday of this week, Aug. 1, was a historic day on the Gogebic Range. The last load of iron ore was shipped on that day, reports Victor F. Lemmer, industrial historian of Ironwood.

The last ore from the stockpile of the Peterson Mine at Ironwood, the last mine to operate on the Gogebic Range, was shipped on Aug. 1 via the Chicago & North Western Railway to a steel plant at Granite City, Ill. The Peterson Mine closed permanently on Jan. 29, 1966, ending iron mining on the Gogebic Range.

Lemmer noted that "the last load shipped here this week was from a site only a half mile from the place where the first iron ore produced on the Gogebic Range was loaded in 1884. The industry started and ended in the same place."

Lemmer said that there are still millions of tons of iron ore unmined on the Gogebic Range but that "it may not be taken out in this generation because of the inability to pelletize our iron formation."

The Marquette Range was the first of the Upper Peninsula's three iron ranges opened to commercial production of iron shortly after discovery of iron there in the 1840s. To the end of 1966, the Marquette Range had shipped 348.6 million tons of ore.

The Cleveland Cliffs Iron Co., and its industrial partners have become the major mining interests on this range and have pioneered the development of open pit mining of low grade ores, which are beneficiated and pelletized into highly desirable steel furnace feed, and also the pelletizing of natural ore from underground mines.

891 Million Tons
The Menominee Range, opened in 1877, has one modern open pit iron mine and beneficiating and pelletizing plant owned by the Hanna Mining Co., which is also producing natural ores, as are some other mining firms in the Iron River-Stambaugh district. This range had shipped 287.5 million tons of ore to the end of 1966.

The Gogebic Range in Michigan — excluding its Wisconsin part, which has also ceased to produce iron ore — shipped 254.9 million tons up to the end of 1966.

Grand total of Upper Michigan shipments of iron ore since the beginning of the industry, said Lemmer, is 891.1 million tons to the end of 1966.

He is survived by his widow, the former Margaret Switzer of Gladstone; two daughters, Mrs. Leonard (Marlyn) Solis of Northlake, Ill., and Mrs. Ross (Shirley) Sullinger of Chicago and three grandchildren: one brother, Raymond of San Carlos, Calif.

Friends may call at the Skradski Funeral Home after 4 p.m. Friday and funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Saturday at the funeral home chapel. Burial will be in Fernwood Cemetery.

The annual Shrine parade of uniformed units and clowns which will assemble on Kaye Ave. at N.M.U., proceed south on Fourth St. to Hewitt Ave., east on Hewitt to Front, north on Front to Memorial Field where Tebala, Mohammed, Mocha and Ramesses units will perform for the public.

A social get-together is scheduled for the Marquette National Guard Armory for Friday evening for all units.

Biggest Cow At Fair Made Of Papier Mache

One of the big attractions at the Upper Peninsula State Fair Aug. 15-20 will be the "World's Biggest Holstein Cow," now "pastured" at the Drees Livestock Yard in Peshtigo, Wis. The papier mache giant has appeared in parades and is scheduled for several other fairs.

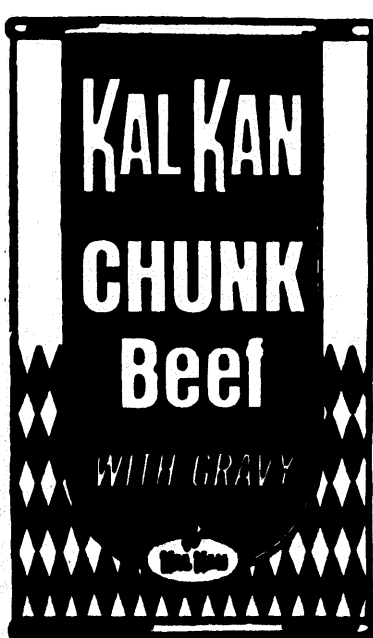

Henry Drees, owner, reports that the cow symbolizes the millionth animal to pass through the Peshtigo yard. The cow stands 15 feet high, is 22 feet long and 8 1/2 feet wide. Cliff Perras, secretary manager of the Fair says the cow will be on the Midway, opposite the Exhibition Building.

Planning Public Works

Thomas Francis, the federal commissioner of the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission, told the Michigan Advisory Task Force to the federal-state economic development agency that there have been 762 studies of the region since 1945, most of them in the last 5 years.

The northern parts of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan, then, must be one of the best studied regions in the world. Perhaps because of this situation, Herbert DeJonge, director of the Michigan Department of Commerce, said that "not too much original thinking" has gone into the plan being developed for submission to Congress and the state governments involved with an aim of stimulating private investment and economic growth by trigger-type public works.

What's needed now, DeJonge told Michigan's advisers from the Upper Peninsula and the 80 counties of Lower Michigan, is priorities on the public works projects. Michigan's advisers split into U. P. and Lower Peninsula groups to develop priorities for their respective areas. To qualify for federal help the projects must have regional significance, but the U. P. part of the task force thought that a base of area interest would still be the best one from which to approach the problem.

The Upper Peninsula, for instance, is more concerned with its highway connections with neighboring Wisconsin than it is with its ties with Lower Michigan, and it looks with great hope to the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission as a means of gaining regional benefits that the individual states have never been able to get together on.

The Upper Peninsula, hoping to break into modernity and get into the big money in tourism, has only a two-lane highway (US-2) east-west, with a two-lane auxiliary to the north (M-28). It would cost $11.3 million to do just the engineering work on a four-lane east-west U. P. superhighway and $200 million to build it. But it becomes a much better prospect for implementation with the three Northern Lake States cooperating on a regional development program.

The means by which they can attract more industry will be studied and the first meeting heard suggestions that while Wisconsin may win support for its Apostle Islands National Park project, other projects like vocational education, Great Lakes fishery development, industrial, agricultural, transportation, and tourism development have general appeal and support.

The possibility of tax incentives to get industrial investment in areas like the Northern Great Lakes Region — whose depressed state makes it eligible for the federal aid in prospect — is "only an idea" so far, said DeJonge.

The federal government gives a 7 per cent credit on taxes for new industrial investment and it has been suggested that 8 per cent might be added to this to make a total tax credit of 15 per cent for industrial job-making investments in problem areas like the Northern Lake States.

This would be very hard to sell to the Internal Revenue Service," said Francis. Tax credits, he said, are opposed on a point of unfairness: because they give an advantage to a newcomer that doesn't go to the investor who has been carrying the tax load all along.

The advantage should go, he said, "to the man who is already here and who wants to expand. Our best chance of success (in economic development) rests on what we already have."

The first inventory of what the region would like in accelerated public works projects came to more than a billion dollars. This has been whittled down to a 3 state preliminary request for $205 million, of which $142 million would be federal grants and $61 million state money.

The U. P. Task Force will recommend projects in order and it indicated at MacInaw City that it will limit them to a few, in order to push hard for action in the first year of what is planned as a continuing program.

He Ducked This One

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — It is the cynic who thinks that members of Congress don't read their mail, that letters will go unanswered or are simply popped into file 13.

Congressmen try to answer every (excluding the crackpot jobs) letter they receive, especially if it comes from within the constituency. Constituents vote, you know.

But Rep. Lee Hamilton, D-Ind., tells of one rare letter from a student constituent that just had to go unanswered:

"I am interested in a political career," the student wrote, "but there is a slight obstacle in my way. Through no fault of my own, my parents were never married."

"Some people I've talked to think this means I have no future in politics. Others think Congress is just the place for me. What do you think?"

Hamilton thinks somebody was putting him on.

This letter, which appeared in a local women's page column, got more than its share of snickers:

"Can anyone tell me anything about an organization called Neurotics Anonymous? Where and when do they meet? How do they attempt to help their members? The way things have been going, I think I'm a candidate."

"Mrs. H. H., Washington." Most who read it just laughed and said, "Now, it couldn't be!"

We had to double-check — just to make sure — this item in the weekly Capitol Hill Roll Call.

"The Congressional Strangers" play the Senate Staff Club tonight for the mythical Hill championship. Both teams, having beaten the Supreme Court in league play, have agreed that the Hill title will at least salvage something out of their rather disappointing season.

"The winners may get a night at Harvigan's (a pub) thrown in to boot and a competitive contest is expected." The author was talking about softball, he says.

ROSS LEWIS, MILWAUKEE JOURNAL

Letters To The Press

County Nursing Home Is Needed

It is with a great deal of concern that I write my initial letter to the editor. I feel that the aging population of Delta County, often referred to as senior citizens, are being short-changed by the very people they feel are their friends.

I have been very concerned over the State Department of Health's decision that the Delta Nursing Home must be closed. This certainly is no surprise to me. For many years while I was with the Department of Social Welfare it was a continual battle to keep the home in a sufficient state of repair so that a yearly license could be granted.

The Delta County Social Welfare Board and some members of the Board of Supervisors were aware of this problem. Through the efforts of people like Charles Sedenquist and Harold Vanierbergh, enough improvements were done yearly so that the home was relicensed.

Apparently the thinking of the Welfare Board and the Board of Supervisors now is that they do not wish to put more money in an old building. I wonder if they really have a chance? I am relatively certain that the State Department of Health will not rescind their decision until Delta County first makes a move to improve the situation.

This could be done in a number of ways — improve the present structure, or build a new facility, or for private individuals to put up a facility. No doubt the latter is the best proposal. It seems like a waste to put a lot of money in an old building, and then each year worry about whether it will be relicensed. The present structure has served its purpose well, but there is a limit as to what can be done to keep it useable.

Delta County could build a new medical care facility. This would be expensive, but many counties throughout the state are doing this. At best, Delta County can only get a limited number in at Pinecrest — nowhere near the beds they need for a county of this size.

It seems to me that for private individuals, or a non-profit organization or group to put up a facility is the most practical. This is happening in many places throughout the country, and it is generally acknowledged that this is the best plan for most of our older population if they are in need of convalescent care.

My concern is that no one has yet publicly come out with any plan, and as long as none is forthcoming the State Department of Health will enforce their decision. What do you do with 47 patients? Some have already had to leave the Delta Nursing Home and I understand that the plans made for them were anything but satisfactory.

Most of the patients there have no families or else have no one who wishes to look after them. In my years of association with the Delta Nursing Home, I have always been amazed at the care the people receive. Mrs. Delia Peterson, the administrator, is a person to be admired. She has unselfishly for over 10 years done a tremendous job of looking after the needs of these people.

I am sure they received the best possible care at all times, and they certainly deserve to receive the same type of care for the rest of their lives. To take people out of a licensed home and put them in unlicensed and unsupervised homes does not seem to be the answer. But, that is exactly what is happening: We should be truly ashamed of their plight!

These people have rights the same as the rest of us. Because they are old, do we put them off in some corner and wait for them to die, or do we take some positive action now to improve their situation? With a firm commitment that a new structure would be built soon, and minimum improvements to the present Delta Nursing Home, I believe that the State Department of Health would cooperate in a temporary license.

Be Sure Finesse Is Necessary

made his slam.

"That was a tough one," said South.

"Not exactly," muttered North. "You made it tough for yourself by practicing your finessing. If you would confine your practicing to home, you would be a happier bridge player."

North was eminently correct. South might well have made seven on his line of play if both finesses had succeeded but he should not have finessed at all.

After drawing the adverse trumps, South should have led a club to dummy's ace, ruffed a club, led a heart to dummy's ace, ruffed the last club and led another heart.

Then South could have showed his hand. It wouldn't make any difference where the king of hearts and queen of diamonds were. A diamond lead would take the finesse for South. Any other lead would give him a ruff in one hand and a diamond discard in the other.

CLEAN

We had a very serious alcoholic problem on our beach earlier this summer. The first part of July we had to clean up our beach three and four times a week, and about two weeks ago, we cleaned it every day for 5 days.

Since about July 20, we have had to clean up dead fish, mostly alewives, about three times a week. Since the middle of last week there have been very few dead alewives on our beach. I went to the beach early Monday morning, as I try to do every morning, and I saw no dead fish.

I am hoping there will be no more dead fish — at least no more than the usual few we have wash up, which we clean up immediately.

Our guests are now swimming, boating and sun bathing here as usual.

I hope this letter explains our situation here in Ford River.

NEGROES

As I write this I can hear the whirr of the helicopters overhead patrolling our city.

Before me I have an article from the Detroit News dated June 18. I was very much surprised and disappointed that many people in your area objected to a visit by George Wallace. This included Attorney Ned Dutton of Iron Mountain, Charles Wanic, president of Holy Name High School and Rev. Constantine Church. Had it been Martin Luther King or Stokely Carmichael they probably would have listened to them.

I spent my childhood in the Escanaba area and have visited it every summer for the past 30 years. I know what freedom you have, but most of you people have no conception of the crime element we have to contend with in our city. We have not been safe on our streets and parks for years.

We have a group of militant youths that have been taught for years to make and use molotov cocktails, toss rocks and bottles, beat, loot and defy all laws. You do not go down your streets and see "soul brother," "soul sister" and "soul shop" on the windows.

Our police have been spit at and cursed at and when pushed they yell "police brutality." They have some of the best housing in Detroit and they have taken over most of our parks including Belle Isle. Many of our schools are nothing but a behavior problem with no respect for authority. Our crime rate is the highest in the nation.

This is a minority group, but segregation is growing because of a society that is unable to fight it and cannot tolerate it. Better housing and more jobs will not solve this problem. This same group will create a "ghetto" wherever they go.

I would like to see more law and order in our schools starting in the first grade but this is impossible because of pressure groups and organizations. Everyone in position to enforce this is afraid of criticism or losing a vote.

I am looking forward to visiting Upper Michigan again this summer and enjoying your "freedom."

Newspaper Want Ads are a big sell! One billion, twenty one million was spent on classified ads last year — more than for all magazine advertising combined and more than 300 million more than radio advertising.

Dear Ann Landers: It is 2:30 a.m. Mom and Dad are still staggering around, screaming at each other. The last guest just left. I helped shove her out the door. Before leaving she managed to drop her drink in the vestibule and I had to clean up the broken glass. My parents were too smashed to notice.

I am writing because I know I won't be able to sleep until dawn. After a party like this Mom and Dad fight all night. She accuses him of making passes at other women and he says she is crazy and he is going to put her in a mental institution.

I am a 17-year-old boy and have been offered two full scholarships in another state. But I'm afraid to leave home because I don't know what will become of my brothers and my sister if I go away. Yet I know I must get a college education because at the rate my parents are going they will be dead of alcoholism before the younger kids are grown. I have to get myself educated so I can take care of them.

I am not writing for advice. I know you can't help people who won't help themselves and my parents insist they are not alcoholics. They call themselves "social drinkers." But thanks Ann, for letting me get this off my chest. I needed someone to talk to. — RX

Dear RX: I am printing your letter in the hope that the thousands of "social drinkers" who stagger around and fight until dawn will recognize themselves. In the meantime, I hope you will write to Alateen for literature. The address is Al-Anon Family Group Headquarters, Inc., P. O. Box 182, Madison Square Station, New York, N. Y. 10010. Ford Boosts Truck Prices

Detroit (AP)—A price boost on 1968 Ford trucks is seen as a clue to the extent of price increases in 1968 model cars.

An interim price list sent to Ford truck dealers boosted retail price tags on many models by more than $150.

The interim price list was sent over the signatures of John F. McLean, Ford Division assistant general sales manager for light trucks, and K.D. Holloway, heavy truck sales and marketing manager.

The list price is not necessarily the final price, but is an educated guess what the final figure will be.

Of the more popular truck models, the basic half-ton Style-side pickup was boosted from a suggested retail price of $2,233 for 1967 to $2,393 for the coming year.

The F-600 chassis and cab in the medium duty field went from $3,300 to $3,585. The heavy duty F-750 cab and chassis went up to $5,356 from $5,078.

Ford Division said the increases average out to $75 across the line, and that there are price cuts in some models.

The figures, says Ford, are based on a comparison of the price on 1967 and 1968 trucks with similar equipment.

Under Ford's comparison, the price changes range from a cut of $51 to an increase of $165.

Poor Nesting Cut Duck Crop

WASHINGTON (AP)—Disheartening news for duck hunters.

North America's fall flights of major game ducks may be less than last year, Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall announced Wednesday.

"Late reports from field biologists indicate poor nesting success as a result of spring storms, followed by drought conditions over widespread prairie nesting areas," Udall's director of the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, John S. Gottschalk, said.

An earlier report from the Interior Department indicated breeding populations, particularly of mallards, were relatively unchanged.

But delayed nesting and a drop in water levels, the department says now, indicates fewer mallards this fall with the same for pintail, blue-winged teal and canvasback ducks.

"Prospects for the fall flight of canvasbacks are particularly disheartening," Gottschalk said, but added:

"Geese are an optimistic note at this point. Except for a few flocks, goose flights this fall should be equal to the good flights of 1966 and some are expected to be better."

Most Negroes Still In South

WASHINGTON (AP)—Although recent Negro rioting has centered largely in Northern cities, government studies indicate a majority of the nation's Negroes still live in the South.

The latest Census Bureau figures indicate the balance will probably change, however, before the 1970 census.

Estimates made by the bureau also show the Negro population is growing proportionately faster than the white population, and Negroes on the average are younger, have less education and lower family incomes than whites.

A recent Census Bureau report showed Negroes to an increasing extent are living in metropolitan areas—even in the South—and within these areas in the innermost sections of cities.

Between 1960 and 1966, the bureau said, the Negro population living in metropolitan areas increased by 21 per cent—from 12.2 million to 14.8 million—and almost all the increase was in the inner city.

The white population increased meanwhile by 9 per cent in metropolitan areas and all of it came outside the inner city, much of it in the suburbs, the bureau added.

Total Negro population as of July 1, 1966, the latest figure available, reached 21.6 million, about 11 per cent of the total U.S. population. This compared with 10.5 per cent in the 1960 census.

About 60 per cent of all U.S. Negroes lived in the South at the time of the 1960 census. But this percentage dropped to 54.4 per cent by 1964 and to 53.6 per cent by 1965, the last available figure.

If the trend continues, the figure will drop below 50 per cent before 1970.

The Census Bureau didn't attempt in any of its studies to detail the reasons for the Negro migration but one official said job opportunity is the key. Lack of jobs has been cited by Negro leaders as a basic cause of recent disturbances.

GOP Has Island Meeting Sept. 22

LANSING (AP)—Michigan Republicans will gather Sept. 22-24 for their biennial Mackinac Island Conference, the GOP State Central Committee announced here.

Theme of the conference will be "Project Grass Roots," the party's program of involvement with problems at the community and neighborhood level.

Awards will be presented to groups and individuals who have made outstanding contributions to the project this year.

Highlighting the conference will be appearances by Lt. Gov. William Milliken, U.S. Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., the Michigan GOP congressional delegation and members of the party's State Legislative delegation.

Electric Coop Bonds Get OK

LANSING (AP)—The State Public Service Commission has authorized a $125,000 bond issue for the Augusta Telephone Co. for improvement of its telephone plant and facilities. Also authorized was a $829,000 bond issue by the Presque Isle Electric Cooperative, Inc., to enable it to serve an additional 1,000 members and increase its service capacity for 250 existing members in nine Upper Peninsula counties.

South Vietnam's President Race Starting Today

SAIGON (AP) — Almost every detail, down to the number of minutes each candidate can speak, is under control in the regulations for South Vietnam's presidential election. The campaign is officially under way today, giving candidates exactly a month to woo the voters.

So far the election has generated little excitement, even among the candidates. The most prominent ticket, headed by Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu with Premier Nguyen Cao Ky running for vice president, indicates it will not campaign strongly.

The Central Election Committee has scheduled a plane trip to 22 locations in the same number of days for all candidates. Candidates or their representatives will appear in a predetermined order at each of the 22 spots and give a speech of set length.

Thieu Bans Travel

A spokesman said Thieu will go to only about two of the places, one of them in Saigon, to campaign personally. Ky's spokesmen say he will "concentrate on his job as prime minister."

A representative will appear for the Thieu-Ky ticket on the other occasions.

The two leading civilian candidates, both in their 60s, will let representatives do most of the traveling. "I am too old to do any traveling," says Tran Van Huong. Phan Khanh Suu, who has served as chairman of the provisional assembly, also has indicated he will do most of his campaigning from Saigon.

Cong Plans Attack

Other candidates on the government-sponsored trips will talk only in the 22 largest cities. No one will campaign personally in smaller cities nor in thousands of villages and hamlets.

Thus only a very small percentage of South Vietnam's 5.4 million registered voters will face the candidates. Many will see the names for the first time when they get ballots Sept. 3, election day.

Captured documents indicate the Viet Cong is gearing for a strong attack against the election. The documents talk of assassinations, increased propaganda, warnings to local officials, stealing ballot boxes and any other means to make the elections flounder.

U.S. officials support a "get-out-the-vote" campaign, spread evenly among the tickets. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker has told Vietnamese journalists that the United States supports no individual.

Jordan Becomes Smuggler River

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — The Biblical River Jordan has become a smugglers' stream for Arab people and produce moving clandestinely in and out of Israeli-occupied territory.

The crossings begin after nightfall when the searing heat of the Jordan Valley subsides and the west bank of the river is curbed by Israeli army patrols.

Shopkeepers in Amman report that Arab truck drivers pay Israeli soldiers on the west bank 10 dinars—$20—per truck to look the other way while they drive loads of fruit and vegetables across shallow fords in the river for the market in Amman. They pay again when they cross back into occupied territory for another load.

Cross By Night

Arab refugees who fled from their homes on the west bank and are now crowded into desert camps around Amman report that many of their friends are crossing back to their homes by night. They pay Arab Palestinians five dinars—$10—per refugee to show them the river crossings and escort them past Israeli patrols.

The slow-flowing green waters of the Jordan are only five yards wide in places. The river is easy to cross and bushes or orchards lining the banks in places provide good cover.

At least five Jordanians have been killed by Israeli troops in the secret nighttime crossings, Jordanian security officials report.

There is no way of estimating the number of trucks or people slipping across the river, but one Western official connected with the refugee camps said: "The traffic seems to be brisk and the Israeli soldiers must be making a lot of money."

Refugees Still Flee

"Hundreds of us are going back every night," said one refugee on the river bank. But some officials estimate only a few dozen cross each night.

Seven weeks after the end of the war, refugees are still fleeing the occupied zone with Israeli permission, crossing in daylight over the Allenby bridge and the northern bridges at Dama.

Latest statistics show 64,500 refugees packed into camps around Amman, 45,000 of them in tent cities run by the United Nations Relief and Works Agency. The total number of refugees who fled to Jordan is estimated at 200,000.

Israel has announced it will let refugees return home starting Aug. 10. But the repatriation is deadlocked by Jordan's refusal to use repatriation forms headed "State of Israel" and Israel's refusal to use Red Cross forms.

Nursing Home Patients Concerned About Future

BY DAVE ANDREWS

The old folks, those who were able, sat around the tables eating mock chicken legs and baked potatoes.

Beside their plates were big hunks of chocolate cake.

In their eyes there was sadness.

"I like to stay here so much," one woman sobbed. "Why somebody kick if we satisfied. The food is good. We got good care. The beds are as nice as people would have in their own homes."

The woman talking was one of 35 patients at the Delta Nursing Home who in less than a month will have to find other food, care and beds.

By Sept. 1, the nursing home will be closed.

And most of the old folks don't have any idea where they're going.

"A Little Repair"

"Even if they had to do a little repair," said Mrs. Mary Vian, an 88-year-old woman who likes the home. "They should leave us stay until they build a new place."

"Do they have a lot of room at the jail?" asked Mrs. Fern Quirt. "My husband used to be sheriff (in Wisconsin) and if it's like it used to be that wouldn't be so bad."

"I don't know where I'll go," said Gus Lindquist, 80, who was coming down a stairway to go for a walk with his former Ensign neighbor, Ed Berquist, 75. "Maybe we'll put up a big tent in the field out there."

Gus Anderson, sitting on his bed, an 85-year-old who came to the home three years ago from his daughter's home in Gladstone, simply shook his head.

"I don't know what I'll do," he said. "She can't take me in. The state don't pay nothing if you go to a relative. The only income I get is $47 a month Social Security."

Mrs. Tillie Thomas, a frail little woman of 92, echoed his sentiments.

No Sprinkler System

"My people are all dead," she said. "My sons are all married and scattered and they couldn't take me in. I can't walk by myself anymore. When I came here two years ago I could still get around a little. I can't anymore."

Mrs. Thomas, who has a single room on the second floor of the nursing home, is an example of one of the patients the state is concerned about. In event of a fire, she couldn't get out by herself and the building isn't equipped with a sprinkler system to stem the scaring rush of a fire through an old building.

Constructed in 1907 — about the same time as the Jefferson and Washington schools which will be torn down in Escanaba — the building has been in use by Delta County for the past 60 years.

In the current arrangement, Delta County leases the building to Mrs. Delia Peterson, superintendent of the nursing home, who operates on her license.

Although there are six exits from the building and some fire precautions have been taken, the state feels the danger of a major tragedy in event of a fire is too great to allow continued use. The Board of Supervisors was informed that unless some preparations were undertaken to install a sprinkler system and make other alterations, the temporary permit under which Mrs. Peterson is operating would be suspended, forcing closure.

Repair Expensive

Because of the expense involved in repairing an old building, the Supervisors have taken no action, aside from getting cost estimates on the repairs needed.

Of the 35 patients in the home, 16 are considered bed patients, persons who wouldn't be able to do anything to save themselves. In a fire situation, all would have to be carried from the building by staff members. Doors are too small to allow beds to be rolled to safety.

Kathy Meyer, a nurses aide from Escanaba who has been employed at the home for about three years, admits that the building isn't as safe as it could be, but she argues that forcing the oldsters out into other residences, particularly unlicensed three-bed homes, would be a worse fate than living in the sub-standard home.

"None of the patients are allowed to smoke in their rooms," she pointed out. "They have to go to the lobby. And some of those who might be inclined to sneak one once in a while are watched constantly."

Doors in the home all have been fireproofed, she continued, and fire doors have been installed to seal off the back part of the residence from the front.

Miss Meyer contended that many of the unlicensed homes in which most of the Delta Nursing Home patients may relocate are not capable of providing adequate care, medical treatment or diet.

Concerned Over Patients

"A permit to operate one of these homes can be obtained by filling out a form from the Dept. of Social Services and enclosing it and $3 in an envelope and mailing it in to Lansing," she said. "A person applying for a permit can take the three patients into their homes even before they receive their permit, just as long as their application has been sent in."

"Persons receiving permits are not even required to have a physical examination and their homes are not inspected to be sure that they have the proper facilities in which to care for the patients. They are not even required to have had any previous experience in caring for the old and the sick."

It is this problem that concerns the staff of Delta Nursing Home even as the coming closure concerns the patients.

Mrs. Peterson, the superintendent of the home, concedes that the nursing home needs some repairs and a sprinkler system. She agrees that the county is right in not wanting to sink thousands of dollars into an aging building.

But she is also concerned about her patients. At 70, 80 or 90 years old, many of them aren't capable of doing for themselves anymore.

And closing the home, she believes, will take that care away without providing a substitute.

PATIENTS WHO ARE unable to do anything for themselves, like Mrs. Hattie Severinsen who is being fed here by a member of the Delta Nursing Home staff, will need other full-time care facilities to move into when the nursing home is closed. Currently, there are no vacancies. (Daily Press Photo)

Driver License Hiked 50 Cents

LANSING (AP) — A bill increasing driver's license fees by 50 cents beginning next month cleared the last important legislative hurdle Tuesday.

The House agreed with the Senate version of the measure, which boosts the basic charge for an original license from $5 to $5.50 and the cost of a license renewal from $3.50 to $4. A photograph for the license costs another 50 cents.

A chauffeur's license would cost $3.50 instead of $3. The charge for a minor's restricted license would remain at $2.50.

The fee increases previously had passed both houses, but the bill was held up by a House amendment which would have required driver education courses to include on-the-street training.

The Senate opposed the amendment. The House voted Tuesday to withdraw it.

The extra 50 cents raised by the bill, which is to take effect Sept. 1, would go to the authority which conducts license examinations.

Beer And Wine Wholesalers, Sales Get Curb

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney Wednesday allowed a bill making minor changes in the state liquor law to become law without his signature. The changes became effective immediately.

The measure prohibits beer and wine wholesalers from being licensed as designated merchants or distributors. It also prohibits them from selling to persons other than retailers or other licensees.

The Senate at one point added an amendment to the bill which would have permitted counties to legalize sale of liquor on Sunday. The amendment was removed from the bill when supporters of Sunday liquor were unable to muster needed support in the House.

CHARLEVOIX (AP) — Gov. George Romney has been invited to speak at the dedication Aug. 22 of a $20 million plant of the Medusa Portland Cement Co. The plant is expected to employ 85 persons when it goes into production later this month.

MRS. TILLIE THOMAS, 92, is able to sit up in a chair in her room, but can't walk without assistance anymore. In consideration of her safety and that of other patients in case of fire, the state has ordered the Delta Nursing Home closed by Sept. 1. (Daily Press Photo)

House OKs Help On Riot Cleanup

LANSING (AP) — A resolution allowing state agencies to spend extra money to help clean up the mess left by a week of rioting passed the House Wednesday even though some members said they didn't know what it would do.

"I think there are some areas of doubt as to just what this thing means," said Rep. Charles Davis, R-Onondaga, assistant majority floor leader.

The Senate passed resolution, which has no technical legal status, expressed the intent of the Legislature to later approve spending to cover rehabilitation efforts made "to the extent supported by present law and within the scope of existing programs."

The text of the resolution left some observers uncertain as to which state agencies were being empowered to spend how much extra money.

It provided that reports on spending should be made to state budget director Glenn Allen "for examination and evaluation" and that Allen's findings should be sent to Gov. George Romney and the chairman of the House and Senate Appropriations Committee.

It resolves that "supplementary funds for related extraordinary expenses will be appropriated subject to the ordinary legislative process and availability of state revenues."

Obvious intended beneficiaries of the measure were the departments of State Police and Military Affairs, whose men worked long hours in Detroit and other cities last week. It was less clear whether the Civil Rights Department would be included.

Negro Rep. Jackie Vaughn, D-Detroit, introduced and then withdrew an amendment to the resolution which specifically would include the Civil Rights Commission among agencies empowered to spend beyond current budget levels.

Rep. Arnell Engstrom, chairman of the power House Appropriations Committee, which reported out the resolution, warned Vaughn: "If you want to kill the resolution, just single out the Civil Rights Commission and it will be dead."

Adopting Vaughn's amendment "would be nothing more than handing a blank check to this agency," charged Rep. E.D. O'Brien, D-Detroit, who earlier this session introduced a measure to abolish the Civil Rights Commission.

White Pine Needs Miners, Housing

By JEAN WORTH

Copper Range Co.'s White Pine Copper Co. operations in Ontonagon County give the lie to the popular image of the Upper Peninsula as a place of unemployment.

White Pine's biggest problem at present is getting miners.

The company has one of the biggest industrial payrolls in the Upper Peninsula with 2,400 persons currently employed.

It needs 1,500 more workers for its long range plans of development of its copper mining complex.

It is recruiting constantly and many of its workers drive long distances — some 100 miles — to work, but it can't catch up with its labor needs. Most of the jobs offered are mining jobs underground and 40 per cent of those hired for this type of work don't stay two weeks, so the turnover is high.

Growth Is Slow

White Pine Copper Co. doesn't know what its long term solution to its labor problem will be, but housing nearer to the work site is obviously one of the needs of the solution. The village of White Pine has only about 1,000 population and it's not growing in a way that suggests the solution is on the way.

Studies made for the copper mining company to learn which come first in the making of a community, the houses or the shops, reported that they have nothing to do with each other. White Pine seems to bear it out.

The mining company built the original housing and then apartments, they are signed for before they can be built at $150 a month.

The historic fear of large investment in housing in a mining community has been that the ore body would be exhausted, the mine would close and the community would become a ghost town, with its dwellings worth only salvage value, if anything.

The Look Ahead

That isn't the prospect at White Pine, which has an expectancy of a century of copper mining at the present rate of mining on the known ore body. Even with huge uncertainties of life, there is an assurance of longevity, based on a valuable metal in limited supply, that makes White Pine a good bet for long life. It does not have the strategic site that Chicago, at the end of Lake Michigan and catching the lake traffic passing around the lake has, but it has basic industry to nourish a community.

It has failed to grow because of the mobility of our times, making it possible to go long distances to work, and because of the cost of modern housing. Housing is actually a good value, but people in the U.P. have not yet made the big leap into modern housing costs. They'll buy an expensive car and drive a long way to the mine.

With much of the nation's copper industry closed by a strike, White Pine is the biggest operating copper producer in the United States today.

Many of the visitors introduced themselves as "stockholders" in White Pine Copper Co., who "want to see what they invested in."

They're treated just as courteously as the non-investors, although officials knew they are fibbing. White Pine Copper Co. is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Copper Range Co.

State Parks Fees Raised

LANSING (AP) — The cost of visiting a state park went up a notch with the signing of a bill by Gov. George Romney to raise the fee for both daily and seasonal park entrance stickers.

It is estimated the measure will yield an additional $12 million to the State Conservation Department fund for further development of state parks.

The bill also raises the ceiling on the amount of revenue bonds which can be issued for park development from $10 million to $20 million.

Under the new fee scale, the resident daily car sticker charge goes from 50 cents to $1, the resident annual permit goes from $2 to $3, the non-resident daily charge from 50 cents to $2 and the non-resident annual permit from $2 to $5.

The governor also signed a bill making several changes in the state's basic hunting law.

It restores the Conservation Department authority to permit special hunting seasons for elk, provides for special shooting permits where deer-car accidents are a problem and re-establishes Nov. 15 as the opening of the regular deer hunting season throughout the state.

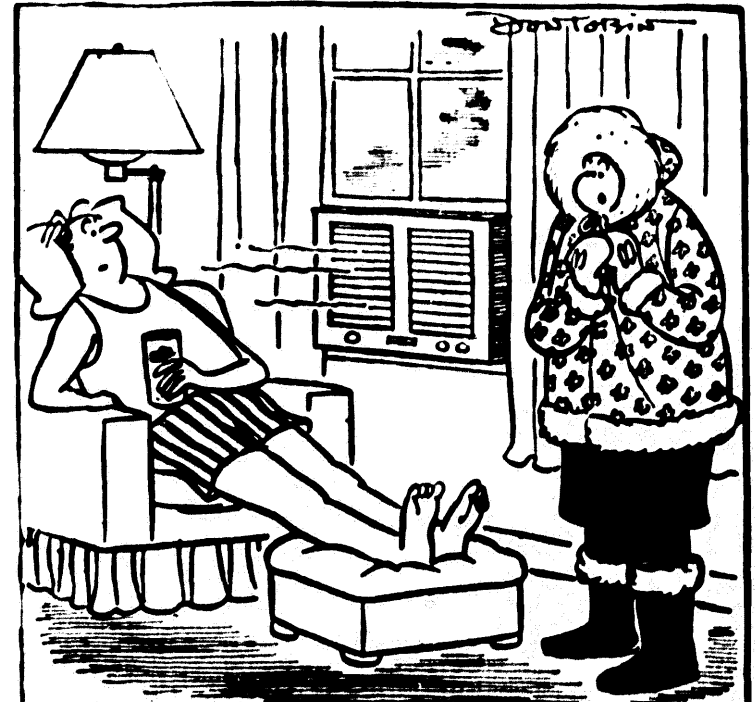

Uninsured Driver Total Is 243,456

LANSING (AP) — Michigan had 243,456 motorists registered as uninsured drivers at the close of the fiscal year, reports Secretary of State James Hare.

Hare said the registration of drivers without liability insurance went up more than 83,000 over the previous year. The percentage of total drivers was 5.82 per cent uninsured compared to 4.12 per cent the previous year.

The telescope was first put to practical use by Galileo in 1609.

Reject Tax Hike

BERKLEY (AP) — Voters have rejected a charter amendment that would have boosted the city's tax limit from $10 per $1,000 of assessed valuation to $20. The vote was 2,624 against and 666 for.

Jaycee Road-E-O Windup Is Tonight

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The Jaycee Safe Driving Auto Road-E-O winds up tonight with an awards banquet at the University of Michigan.

The sponsoring Jaycees and Lincoln-Mercury Division of Ford Motor Co. declined to release standings in the various driving and testing events until the final results are in.

Fifty-one boys and 50 girls, aged 16-18 from every state, are competing in various driving tests. They also take written and oral tests and listen to lectures by U-M faculty members.

To qualify for the finals here, contestants had to win local and state competitions.

"The program actually made me a safer driver," said Charles Klaubert, 18, of Manchester, N.H. "I slowed down five miles an hour as soon as I decided to enter."

Givenchy Presents New Fall Sports Look

PARIS (AP) — Givenchy presented his many-splendored designs for elegant living today and launched a new silhouette for sports.

Throwing open his winter collection to fashion writers for the first time in five years during the regular haute couture season, Givenchy also developed his favorite ideas, which are always contemporary without being extreme. In recent years, Givenchy has awaited delivery of his models before showing to the press.

He continued his tunic dresses, figure-skimming unfitted sheaths and belted chemises belonging to high society and the grand ballroom.

Playsuit
His new sports line carried through in his hostess gowns and right into milady's bedroom. It is a one-piece playsuit with a wide, soft bermuda leg reaching to the kneecap.

For sports alone, it appears in tweeds, wools and jersey. Under big and loose or beautifully tailored belted coats, they come forth in Givenchy's favorite dark forest green. They match the coat, which may be green window pane checked wool, or in a contrasting shade, such as a gray one with knee breeches under a grege moulton woolen chunky coat.

Back Pockets
Other wool coats for sports go over workmen's overalls and are treated to buttoned down patch pockets in the back. On skirts flapped pockets are placed at the back in twosomes, and the same idea is carried out in coats.

A suit has saddle-bag suede pockets attached to the belt.

There is a belt story here. Many are shaped in a V-line in the back and sometimes dropped to the hips. Givenchy uses dark-brown suede for an ensemble with a fringed-out hemline worn over a suit-dress, with a grege top attached to the skirt.

Belts And Hoods
Most all of the top-coated models go over what first appears to be a suit, but is a tailored jacket and dress, detailed and belted often with matching hood and additional short ascot scarf tucked into the neckline.

He uses bands of jeweled embroidery on hemlines, shoulder straps, necklines, and on plain fabrics, besides a number of all sequin dresses and evening ensembles. Ultramarine blue is a favorite.

Christmas Stamp Suit Dismissal Asked By Govt.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has requested dismissal of a suit aimed at halting production of the 1967 Christmas stamp depicting Hans Memling's painting, "Madonna and Child With Angels."

Protestants and Other Americans United for Separation of Church and State filed the suit in U.S. District Court, contending production of the stamp entails spending federal money in an unconstitutional manner.

The Post Office already has produced more than 650 million of the stamps—about half the planned number, and sales are scheduled to begin Nov. 6. The Justice Department argued Monday that if an injunction is granted, the stamp would not be ready by Christmas, even if the government wins the case.

Check Locks For Home Protection

By MR. FIX

No lock will stop a determined burglar, but a good lock on every door might make him look for easier pickings. Most burglars would rather try to enter where it can be done with a minimum of bother and noise.

Locks should secure all entrances, not just the front door. There is little point in protecting one entrance when easy access can be gained through a screen door secured with nothing more than a hook and eye.

Although few homes use the sort of lock that can be opened with a skeleton key, too many have a night latch which is designed to lock when the door is slammed shut. Now the lock for one of these—a cylinder lock—is a good one, and not likely to be picked.

Judge Denies Clay Passport

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal court held Cassius Clay's passport today, limiting the former heavyweight champion's travel to within the United States.

U.S. Dist. Judge Joe Ingraham ordered Clay's passport surrendered Wednesday after denying the fighter's request to leave this country to participate in a boxing match in Japan.

Ingraham issued the order pending the outcome of Clay's appeal of a June 20 conviction for refusal to be inducted into the Army.

Clay, who claims he should be exempt from the draft because he is a Black Muslim minister named Muhammad Ali, was assessed a five-year prison sentence and a $10,000 fine.

The World Boxing Association stripped Clay of his title when he refused induction and set up an eight-man elimination tournament to select a successor.

Ingraham, in denying the request and ordering the surrendering of the passport, said Clay has "shown a steady willingness to participate in anti-government, anti-war activities."

Clay contends he has been boycotted in this country and that Japan is the only place in which he can fight. He said he needs money for alimony payments, lawyer's fees, and other expenses.

Make your home difficult to burglarize.

only when the window is completely closed. If you want to have a window partially open at night for ventilation but wish to have the protection of a lock there are special window locks available.

Some work like a barrel bolt which slides in and out of an opening, others are spring loaded bolts and a few can be had with keys.

If you are going to be away for any length of time you should be concerned with more than locks. Do not draw shades completely. Leave them partially up and a light or two burning somewhere inside the house.

If you will be on a vacation, use a timing device to turn lights on in the evening and off again in the morning.

Stop deliveries during vacations. Do not let newspapers and mail accumulate. Have a neighbor check your house now and then. Arrange to have the lawn trimmed and watered. Lock windows on upper floors. Lock the garage.

Cards Take Two To Hike Margin

The Brock and Curt Flood turned off the electricity in Chicago while Pete Rose was watching on the power in Cincinnati.

Brock and Flood clicked for 11 hits between them as the St. Louis Cardinals' dinnied Chicago pennant hopes Wednesday with a 4-2, 7-1 doubleheader sweep over the second place Cubs.

The two victories smashed the Cards' National League lead to 5½ games — the biggest spread of the season.

Rose, meanwhile, became the eighth player in NL history to hit home runs from each side of the plate in a game as Cincinnati drubbed the fading Atlanta Braves 7-3.

The Reds' triumph lifted them within 2½ games of the Cubs while the Braves' fifth loss in their last six starts dropped them 10 games off St. Louis' pennant pace.

Willie Mays drove in three runs with a double and his 15th homer, leading fourth place San Francisco past Pittsburgh 7-2. Houston downed the New York Mets 5-2 and Philadelphia shaded Los Angeles 3-2 in 10 innings in other NL games.

Brock slapped out six hits in the Cards' twin bill sweep — four of them in the nightcap — and lifted his batting average to .291. Flood, who has 14 hits in 28 at bats since coming off the disabled list last Friday, contributed three singles in the opener and two more in the second game, bringing his average to .321.

Right-hander Dick Hughes and southpaw Steve Carlton put together successive complete games for the league leaders.

The deceptive tree-locked 6-86½-yard layout with a 36-25-71 standard has had some great moments in the past.

It was here in 1910 that Chick Evans became the only amateur ever to win the Western Open.

It was here in 1931 that Francis Ouimet defeated Jack Westland 6 and 5 for the National Amateur title.

It was here in 1963 that Arnold Palmer defeated Julius Boros and Jack Nicklaus in a playoff for the Western Open crown after deadlocking at 280.

The par-smashing signal was sounded Wednesday in the pro-am event when lanky Tom Weiskopf slammed a 31-33-64 to break the competitive course record of 65 first set by Tommy Armour in 1924.

The long-hitting Weiskopf, former Ohio State student who won the Western Amateur in 1963, is seeking his first victory in his third year on the PGA tour. He needed only 27 putts in his blistering record round.

Casper, seeking to become only the second player in 64 Western's to win the three straight times, predicted that it would take exceptional golf to win over the exacting Beverly course and a final 72-hole 820-000 first playoff could range from about 278 to 290.

Billy Maxwell sizzled with a 67 in the pro-am while Palmer and Tommy Aaron carded 68. Grouped at 69 were Casper, Tommy Bolt, Ken Still, Dean Refrain, Gene Littler, Nicklaus, Mason Rudolph and Gay Brewer.

Kaline Homers, Gladding Starts As Detroit Splits Double Bill With Orioles

BALTIMORE (AP) — An old slugger and a brand new starting pitcher have put new fire in Detroit's pursuit of the American League pennant.

But the Tigers are still no nearer the goal. They split a doubleheader with the Baltimore Orioles Wednesday, taking the opener 4-2 but dropping the nightcap 2-1.

Al Kaline smashed the 16th homer of the season and his first since his return to the lineup in the first game to spur the Tiger victory.

And relief pitcher Fred Gladding got the nod from manager Mayo Smith to make his first start of the season in the second.

Gladding, called "The Bear" by his teammates, terrorized the Orioles for five hitless innings before he tired and was relieved by Pat Dobson.

But Brooks Robinson belted a homer in the bottom of the ninth with Frank Robinson on to squeeze out the victory for Baltimore.

The Tigers jumped to an early lead in the first game as Don Wert singled and Kaline homered. Norm Cash scored the winning run in the first with his 14th round tripper of the season.

Detroit's lone run in the nightcap came on three consecutive singles in the second.

Jim Northrup led off with a single to left field.

Mickey Stanley then dropped a base hit into center, driving Northrup to third, and Jim Price singled to center, scoring Northrup.

The Orioles scored their two runs in the first game after leading the bases in the seventh inning. Louis Aparicio singled scoring one run and Frank Robinson walked, scoring the second.

The Tigers picked up their insurance run in the opener when Wert doubled down the left field line, McAuliffe singled to right, and Kaline grounded into a double play, Wert scoring on the play.

Joe Sparrma got credit for the victory, his 11th against four losses. He had relief help from John Hiller in the seventh.

Gene Brabender took the loss, leaving him with a season record of no wins and two losses.

Denny McLain (12-12) faces Bill Dillman (5-4) when the Tigers meet the Orioles again tonight.

In addition to the Terrell-Spencer bout, Letis Martin will fight Jimmy Ellis in the other 12-round nationally televised match.

The bouts are part of an eight man elimination tournament set up by the World Boxing Association to select a champion to succeed Cassius Clay. The WBA stripped Clay of his title when he refused to be inducted into the Armed Forces.

In the other quarter-finals of the tournament later this year in Germany and Los Angeles, Karl Mildenberger meets Oscar Bonavena and Floyd Patterson fights Jerry Quarry.

Terrell, a former WBA champion, gave Spencer the cold shoulder at an informal weigh-in for the four Astrodonne fighters Wednesday.

"When I first met him," said Spencer, "he was an all right guy. Now he's walking around like he's king of the walk."

Defending champion Dr. Wayne Kramer, Flint, Pat Coyne, Detroit, and Terry Hoy, Pontiac, all shot even-par 36-36 — 72 to lead the qualifiers in medal play.

The maximum qualifying score was 79, and an 18-hole playoff had to be held to fill the last four places in the flight.

The tournament continues today with two 18-hole match play.

The single-elimination tournament concludes Saturday.

Former New York Met Chris Cannizzaro catches for Toledo in the International League.

After Valentine refused to call time, Frank Robinson made his request — frequently and loudly — to plate umpire Bob Stewart.

But not until Orioles Manager Hank Bauer emerged from the dugout was time called.

"The umpires ought to at least protect the players," Bauer said. "If Brooks hits the ball on the ground, we're dead."

Bauer thought it was odd that Stewart apparently had so much difficulty hearing Robinson's repeated "time out" calls, which carried to the upper deck in Memorial Stadium.

"If I had called him a name from the dugout, he would have heard that," Bauer said.

"If Brooks had bunted, it would have been a double play," Frank Robinson said.

"After everything that has happened this year, that would have been the topper. I think I would have just headed over the center field fence with my uniform on."

Advancing to U.P. tourneys from the Escanaba district will be one team in Class B, two in Class C and four in Class D.

Slated for action here in Class D are Manistique, Gladstone No. 1 and 2, Perkins, Ferronville, Four Corners, Mead No. 3, Trenary, Hardwood, Junior All Stars, Ensign and Independents.

Teams in Class C are Rapid River, Bark River and Escanaba Teamsters.

In Class B are Merchants and Flat Rock.

All three tournaments will be double elimination affairs. The tourney will open with six Class D games Sunday.

Seventeen teams will compete in three district softball tournaments starting Sunday, Aug. 6, at Memorial Field.

Competition will be in classes B, C and D with qualifiers advancing to Upper Peninsula tourney action the following week. The U.P. tournaments have been assigned to Escanaba in Class C, Iron Mountain in Class B and Marquette in A and D.

The front four—football parlance which means one ton of speed and toughness concentrating on the sudden immobilization of the man with the ball—is made up of Bubba Smith of Michigan State, Pete Duranko and Alan Page of Notre Dame and Nebraska's Carl Stuhl.

The linebacking corps is headed by State's George Webster and the Irish's Jim Lynch. Lynch is also the defensive signal-caller for the All-Stars, a job he handled at Notre Dame while leading the 1966 Irish to their first undefeated season in 13 years.

Smith, 6-foot-7 and 285 pounds, played defensive end in such a fashion at Michigan State that Baltimore selected him as No. 1 draft choice in the professional football draft.

Coach John Sauer has shifted Bubba to defensive tackle for the encounter with Green Bay and this move matches Smith with the formidable Jerry Kramer, the All-Pro Green Bay guard who has been moving big men around for the better part of 10 seasons.

"It's quite a matchup," says Galen Fiss, one of Sauer's defensive aids. "Kramer is their biggest, strongest interior blocker and Bubba's our biggest and strongest rush man."

Eaton To Open Northern Coach School Aug. 10

MARQUETTE — Wyoming University's head football coach, Lloyd Eaton, formally inaugurates Northern Michigan University's 21st annual coaching school Thursday, Aug. 10.

The clinic, co-sponsored by the Michigan High School Athletic Association Aug. 10-11-12, will open with Eaton's gridiron presentation all day Thursday and Friday morning. Northern University basketball coach Larry Glass will follow with a cage clinic Friday afternoon and Saturday.

Eaton is no stranger to Michigan football fans. He coached three years in the Michigan high school ranks, then held the head job at Alma College for seven seasons before coming to Northern Michigan in 1956. His 7-0-1 record that season earned him Michigan coach-of-the-year honors.

In 1957 Eaton joined the staff of Bob Devaney at Wyoming, then became head coach in 1962. His 1966 squad had a 9-1 record, played in the Sun Bowl game, and earned him the Western Athletic Conference coach-of-the-year award. Eaton's lifetime college coaching record is 79-36-5 in 13 seasons.

Also appearing at the football clinic will be Eaton's defensive backfield coach, Burt Gustafson, one of NMU's outstanding athletes and another former member of the North-

Relief Corps Gets Credit

By The Associated Press
Relief pitchers Casey Cox and Moe Drabowsky reaped the rewards of their profession, noted for its ups and downs. Fred Gladding, another bullpen specialist, found out how the other half lives.

Cox pitched the top of the 11th inning against Minnesota Wednesday night and won his fifth game in six decisions when Washington broke a tie for a 5-4 victory in the bottom of the inning.

But then he tired in the heat, the curse of many starting pitchers, and had to turn over the pitching chores to Pat Dobson. The rookie held the lead until Robinson's homer made him a loser and relegated Gladding's starting stint to the expense-only category.

Cleveland best the Chicago White Sox 5-1, Kansas City outslugged Boston 8-6 and Philadelphia edged New York 5-4 in other American League action.

In the National League, St. Louis whipped Chicago 4-2 and 7-1. San Francisco drubbed Pittsburgh 7-2. Cincinnati topped Atlanta 7-3. Houston upended New York 5-2 and Philadelphia nipped Los Angeles 3-2 in 10 innings.

Hank Allen's two-out single sent home Ed Stroud, who had singled and stolen second, with the winning run for Washington which had blown a 4-0 lead.

Minnesota tied the game in the eighth when Rod Carew drove in a run with an infield hit. Tony Oliva one with a sacrifice fly, and Harmon Killebrew two with a single.

At Worthington, who came out of the Minnesota bullpen, in the 11th inning, was tagged with the loss.

Steve Hargan set down the league leading White Sox on seven hits. He got all the offensive help he needed in the first inning when three singles and a throwing error produced two Indians runs.

Tony Horton collected four singles and Leon Wagner hit his 15th homer for the Tribe.

Mike Hersherberger's double, Ted Kubiak's triple and Tim Talton's pinch single snapped a 6-6 tie in the eighth inning and gave Kansas City its victory.

Boston had tied the score on Tony Conigliaro's sacrifice fly in the seventh.

Ken Hershelson homered and doubled in two runs for the Athletics. Mike Andrews hit a two-run homer for Boston.

New York took a 4-3 lead with two runs in the seventh, but the Angels pulled it out with two in the ninth on pinch hitter Roger Repoz' leadoff single. Jose Cardenal's triple and Woody Held's single.

Saints Suffer First Setback

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP)—Bruce Gossett kicked three field goals as the Los Angeles Rams spoiled the debut of the New Orleans Saints into the National Football League with a 16-7 exhibition game victory Wednesday night at Anaheim Stadium. Gossett hit on placements from 14, 9 and 43 yards out to provide the difference as each team had a touchdown in the league's pre-season opener before 26,364.

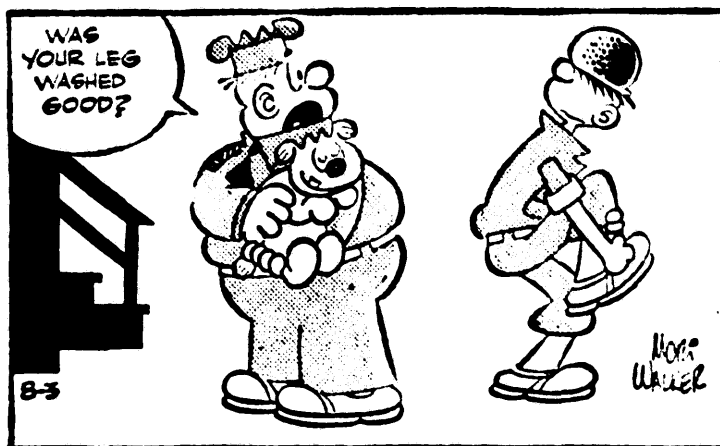

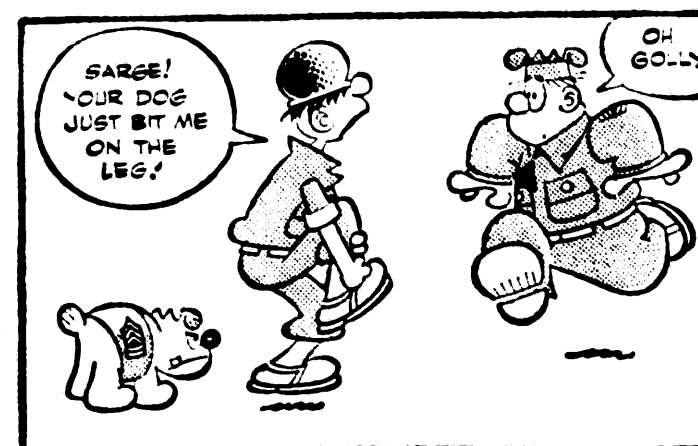

A bus picked up the remaining 19 here Wednesday, shortly after having removed 26 from neighboring Monroe County.

In all, some 4,000 were arrested in the rioting which claimed 41 lives and did an estimated $500 million damage. When Detroit and Wayne County jails were overrun, prisoners were sent elsewhere about the state to await court appearances.

BERRY'S WORLD

"The younger generation is right—nothing DOES count but the experience of the moment!"

Track Athletes Start Harvest Of Gold Medals

WINNIPEG (AP) — As a bystander heard the Star Spangled Banner played once more at the University of Manitoba's track and field stadium, he said to Stan Wright: "Aren't you getting tired of this?"

"No, sir," replied the assistant U.S. track coach from Texas Southern University. "I can hear that played all day. You haven't seen or heard anything yet."

Whereupon the Yankee track and fieldsters won five more of the six finals Wednesday to top their total of gold medals with 22 in 22 events.

Then the U.S. forces swept two golds and two silvers in the 400-meter dash, delayed five hours by gusty winds and two thunderstorms, and another gold for the women's team foil fencing.

Since the young swimming and diving marvels of the United States captured 23 of the 33 golds in the record-breaking meet that ended Tuesday night, you really couldn't blame some of the non-Yanks from getting bored with it all.

On the medal scoreboard the United States has a huge bag of 96 golds, 53 silvers and 34 bronzes. Brazil is a far-trailing second in golds with nine (9-6-3).

Mathis Extends String To 20 Ring Victories With 5th Round TKO

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Heavyweight prospect Buster "The Rockbuster" Mathis' string of ring victories stretched to 20, and knockout No. 14 went into the record following his fifth-round conquest of Irish Wayne Heath.

The 22-year-old Mathis, 245, from Grand Rapids, Mich., twice floored Heath, 202, Oklahoma City, in the third frame of their scheduled 10-rounder Wednesday night.

A devastating right and left to the body sent Heath to his knees in a neutral corner, and referee George Latza stopped the beating after 1:16 of the fifth.

The Mathis-Heath engagement was one of four 10-rounders presented before 6,100 in the Sports Arena by the newly organized Pacific Boxing Club. The gross gate was $27,265, the net $25,801.

None of the bouts went the distance. George "Scrap Iron" Johnson, 114, Los Angeles, retaining the momentum gained when he lasted 10 rounds recently with Joe Frazier, knocked out Italy's Santo Amato, 191, in 1:19 of the 10th round.

Veteran Johnny Smith, 159, Los Angeles, boxing for the first time in almost two years, stopped Skeeter McClure, 160½, Detroit, in 2:18 of the fifth round. McClure suffered a broken rib from a right and was unable to continue.

Unbeaten Tony Longoria, 189, San Antonio, Tex., polished off Lou Phillips, 199, Boise, Idaho, in the first round. A left hook to the head started Phillips' downfall. The time was 1:09.

Matchmaker Don Fraser of the PBC announced today he hoped to match Mathis and Johnson for the Sports Arena Sept. 13.

Bulky Buster proved a popular winner. He went into a dazzling display of footwork, punc-white host Canada is third in gold with eight and second in total medals with 70 (8-28-34).

Pan-American records were broken in five of the six events Wednesday but one of them — Wyoming Tyus' 2:37 time in the women's 200-meter dash — was not allowed because of an aiding wind. Miss Tyus, of Griffin, Ga., nipped 100-meter winner Barbara Perrell of Los Angeles.

Van Nelson of Minneapolis became the first double gold medal winner by taking the 5,000-meter run in 13:47.4. He had won the 10,000 previously.

Bill Toomey of Laguna Beach, Calif., captured the decathlon with 8,044 points; John Carlos, a New York native who runs for East Texas State, edged Jerry Bright of Oakland in the 200-meter sprint in 1:20.5; and fast-rising Wade Bell of Ogden, Utah, came up with a final Canada's olympic silver medalist, in the 800-meter non-record time of 1:49.9.

Cuba's Irene Martinez Tarrabull broke the U.S.A. monopoly by winning the long jump with 20 feet, 9 inches, breaking the Pan-Am mark of 20-2 set by Willy White of Chicago in 1963. Willy also bettered her mark but had to settle for third with 20-3.

Heath hurt me several times with long rights but I was not used to go down.

"My goal now is only one—that's Joe Frazier. I know it'll take some time but I've got to meet up with him sooner or later," said Mathis, who twice defeated Frazier in amateur combat.

"My three-punch combination in the fifth was effective but my left hook to the head was what did it," said the beaming Buster.

Forrestal Death Toll Rises To 131

MANILA (AP)—Two men injured in the fire aboard the aircraft carrier Forrestal have died, raising the toll of confirmed dead to 131, the U.S. Navy announced today. Three other men still are not accounted for.

The two injured men died in hospitals in Vietnam to which they were transferred before the Forrestal sailed Sunday to the Subic Bay naval base in the Philippines.

More than a dozen naval architects and engineers from stations in the United States and elsewhere have begun assessing the damage by the fires and bomb explosions that devastated the 76,000-ton carrier's after section.

A spokesman at Subic Bay said the first task for the investigators is to determine what work has to be done on the carrier and "get it wherever it can be fully repaired." It is generally assumed the ship will return to the United States.

The Navy announced that all of the injured who were transferred to the hospital ship Repose off Vietnam shortly after the fire have been evacuated to the United States except for three men who still cannot be moved.

There are 26 other injured at the U.S. naval hospital at Subic Bay.

City Sponsors Cover Contest

The City of Escanaba is again sponsoring a report-calendar picture contest, in which the work of 12 local artists will be selected to represent municipal activities for each month of the year.

Mrs. Victor Powers will be the contest coordinator as she was last year, said Howard Smale, Escanaba's administrative assistant.

There will be no awards other than the satisfaction of the artist in having his work appear on one of the 12 covers of the report, Smale said. The 1967 calendar has received much favorable attention here and in other cities.

Municipal subjects are suggested for the drawings or paintings, which must be in black and white.

Persons interested in entering the contest are invited to contact Smale at the City Hall or phone Mrs. Powers for detailed information. There is no limit to the number of entries that may be submitted.

Ground Fighting Lull Cuts U.S. Casualties

SAIGON (AP)—U.S. combat casualties in the Vietnam war dropped to their lowest level in six months last week with 114 Americans killed, 893 wounded and five missing, the U.S. Command announced today.

The command said 164 were killed and 1,442 wounded the week before.

But the sharpest decline last week was in the number of South Vietnamese troops reported killed in action—76 compared with 183 the week before.

The number of Communists killed dropped to 1,399, the lowest since the week that ended June 10, the U.S. Command said. But U.S. headquarters said the kill ratio of 6.8 to 1 for the allies last week was the highest.

NMU To Open Residence Halls Honoring Faculty

MARQUETTE — Two new residence halls at Northern Michigan University will be named in honor of Miss Maude Van Antwerp and Dr. Lucian F. Hunt, emeriti faculty members.

Miss Van Antwerp was a member of NMU's education department for 25 years, from 1928 until her retirement in 1953.

Hunt, former head of both the university's physical science and chemistry departments, served Northern for 40 years before his retirement in June.

The new residence halls, which will be ready for occupancy in September, are the second two units of a $6,000,000 residence hall quadrangle and dining facility on NMU's "west" campus. The first two units and food facility, opened last fall, were named after Dr. Mildred Magers and Gunther Meyland.

Drain Reservoir In Child Search

HIGHLAND PARK (AP)—The 58 million gallons of water in Highland Park's municipal reservoir are being drained today in a search for a 7-year-old girl, missing since Wednesday evening.

The decision to drain was made after police had dragged the 12-foot deep reservoir for Lynn Johnson, daughter of the maintenance supervisor, who lives on the grounds of the city water plant.

this year and possibly one of the highest of the war.

The low casualty figures reflected another relative lull in the ground war and did not include the casualties in the disastrous fire aboard the carrier Forrestal Saturday.

Little Contact

The U.S. Command announced three new operations of battalion size but reported significant contact in only one of them.

U.S. pilots flew 161 missions against North Vietnam Wednesday, their biggest day since June 13, when 170 missions were flown, and a Viet Cong bombardment wounded 27 Americans—nine of them seriously—and set some fuel stores on fire at the U.S. Navy base and petroleum storage area at Nha Be, 10 miles southeast of Saigon.

One U.S. jet attacking the Red gun positions crashed due to mechanical trouble but the pilot was rescued.

Tshombe Grab Laid To Congo

LONDON (AP)—A British newspaper, newly returned from Algeria and the Congo, claims Moise Tshombe's kidnapping was planned by the Congo government and carried out with the knowledge of President Houari Boumedienne of Algeria.

On a television news program British Broadcasting Corp. correspondent Keith Kyle said Wednesday night that investigations in Algeria left him "in no doubt whatsoever that the operation was planned by the Congo government and executed with the foreknowledge of President Boumedienne."

He claimed the delay in Tshombe's extradition to the Congo—where he is under a death sentence—was caused by a breakdown in secrecy over the abduction and a changed atmosphere brought about by the Arab-Israeli war.

Kyle said the Algerians are now determined to exact a high price for handing over the former Congo premier.

This price includes, he stated, a complete breach of relations between the Congo and Israel, which has been providing an effective training program for President Joseph D. Mobutu's paracommando forces; a general amnesty for all left-wing politicians and simbas in exile; and a general realignment of a Congo foreign policy to conform with "progressive revolutionary African States."

The terms, Kyle told an interviewer, were tailored to create a breach between Mobutu and his most reliable allies—the United States and Israel.

Rapid River Pay Base Is $5,650

Richard Dye, superintendent and Michael Pelletier, president of the Rapid River Teachers Club, MEA, today jointly announced ratification by the teachers of a salary schedule for the 1967-68 year of the Rapid River School District. It embraces Masonville, Bay de Noc and Ensign townships.

Dye also announced that the faculty had been completed for school opening next month.

The salary schedule negotiated with the Michigan Education Association members of the district calls for a base starting salary of $5,650 for beginning teachers with a bachelor degree, compared with the old base of $5,150.

Base for a master's degree will be $5,950, compared with the former base of $5,350.

There are 11 steps of salary increment for both bachelor degree and master degree teachers, rising to $7,712 for the former compared with the old top of $7,027 and $8,510 for masters, compared with $7,300.

A fringe benefit authorized two personal business days leave within the 10 day sick leave per year allowed by the school district.

Marshall Gets Senate Okay

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Judiciary Committee approved today President Johnson's nomination of Thurgood Marshall as an associate justice of the Supreme Court.

The vote was not announced immediately because it still was incomplete, but it was learned that more than a majority had been recorded in favor of recommending Senate confirmation.

By midday, all but two of the 16 committee members had been recorded and staff aides hoped to be in touch with them shortly.

Marshall, now solicitor general and a former U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals judge in New York, is the first Negro ever selected to serve on the Supreme Court. He is the great-grandson of a slave and the son of a sleeping-car porter.

When Johnson nominated Marshall June 13 to succeed retiring Justice Tom C. Clark, he said Marshall was the best-qualified by training and experience for the post. He added the appointment would act to lessen racial tensions "because it demonstrates that Negroes can reach the top of the heap."

For many years, Marshall was the chief legal officer for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. He successfully argued the case in which the Supreme Court ruled in 1954 that racial segregation in public schools is unconstitutional.

Tass Says China Nears Civil War

MOSCOW (AP)—Tass said today China is nearing civil war.

The Soviet news agency attributed the report to unnamed witnesses. The dispatch was written here.

"Witnesses arriving from China," Tass said, "report that the situation in central and south China increasingly resembles a civil war."

It added there were armed clashes involving Red Guards, workers, students and soldiers in several areas.

"There are thousands of killed and wounded. Helicopters are dropping leaflets urging a stop to the bloodshed," it went on.

Tass said some provinces are suffering from famine and "hungry peasants are looting food stores."

"Continued clashes are reported between Mao Tse-tung's supporters and anti-Maoists and among servicemen," Tass said, adding there was strong opposition to Mao within the army.

Alewife Plant Back In Business

MENOMINEE — The American Protein Co. alewife processing plant in Menominee, which was closed Monday because of problems with waste disposal, resumed operations Wednesday night.

Plant officials said waste materials are being trucked away for use in rural areas as fertilizer. Resumption of operations was necessary "due to a stockpile of unprocessed fish."

The firm has been cut off from the Menominee sewerage system because its wastes overload the disposal capability, causing pollution of the Menominee River. While trucks are in operation, the plant will continue to seek another solution to its waste disposal problem.

The plant makes fish meal and oils.

Hillsdale Pilot Leads Bomb Raid

SAIGON (AP)—Navy fliers from the aircraft carrier Intrepid, led by Cmdr. Richard A. Wigent, 38, of Hillsdale, Mich., bombed a storage area 30 miles east-northeast of Haiphong in North Vietnam Tuesday.

"We took our time and aimed well," said Wigent. "The north side of the hill was nothing but a mass of dust and smoke when we left. The south building just isn't there now."

Stocks Lower; Trading Active

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved irregularly lower early Thursday. Trading was active.

News that President Johnson would send his tax message to Congress about noon added a note of uncertainty in a market which already was pausing after a vigorous rise to new highs for the year.

Allis Chalmers gained a fraction on big volume following its 2-point jump Wednesday.

Control Data dropped 2 while losses of around a point were taken by Chrysler, Procter & Gamble and Johns-Manville.

United Air Lines lost about 2. Du Pont Advanced more than 2 points.

Lorillard and Xerox recovered about a point each.
